Upwork Auto-Bidder · LTV Labs

How to run the Auto-Bidder

Everything you need day to day: reviewing proposals, turning sending on, keeping Connects topped up, changing the rules and reconnecting Upwork or Loom.

THE BASICS

How it works

Every 5 minutes, all day, the tool runs through these steps on its own. You only step in at review.

1

Find

New Klaviyo jobs from clients in the US, Canada and the UK.

2

Score

Out of 100: half for how close it is to jobs Rafa has won, half for how well it fits her profile.

3

Write

Your template word for word, plus a 2–3 sentence personal intro for that job.

4

Loom

A copy of your video for each proposal, named after the job.

5

Review

It waits in the dashboard for you to approve, edit or skip.

6

Send

Approved proposals go out one at a time, at least 5 minutes apart, from Rafa's account.

The screenshots in this guide use sample jobs.

TOUR

The dashboard at a glance

The top of the Proposals tab.

Review first / Auto-submit

Whether proposals wait for your approval. Keep it on Review first until you're happy with the quality.

Connects

Rafa's balance, updated every 30 minutes.

Pause all

Stops searching and sending straight away.

Status line

Running or paused, last scan, active hours (24/7), mode, and whether Sending is on.

Today

Jobs scanned, proposals sent, waiting for review, Connects spent and failures.

Tabs

Proposals (queue and jobs found), Activity log, Rafa's account, Settings.

Not sure what a number means?

Click the small `i` next to it. A short explanation opens; click anywhere else or press Esc to close it.

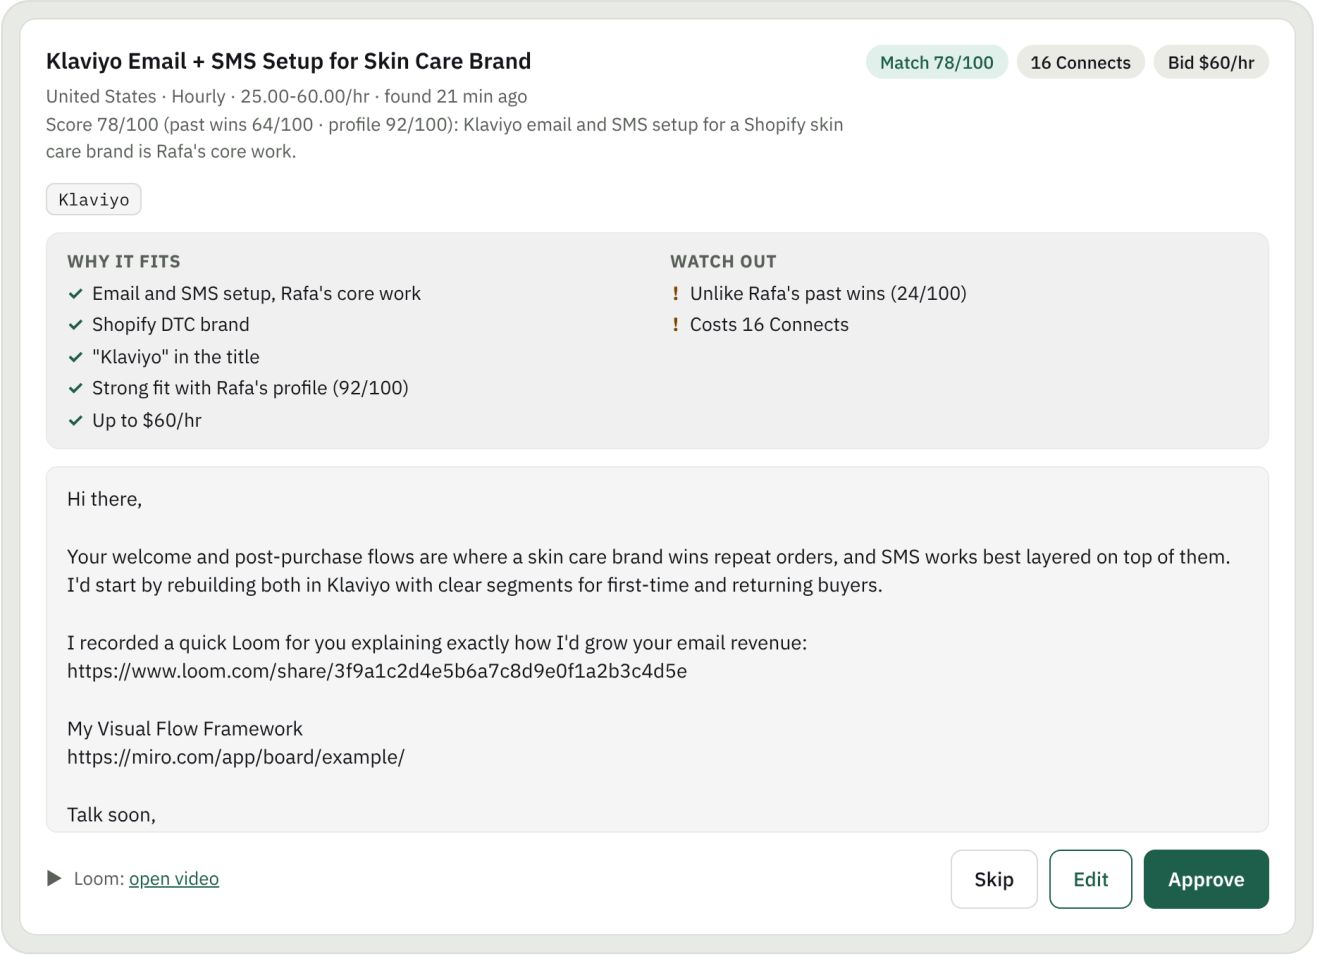

Every figure on the Proposals tab and in Rafa's account has one.

EVERY DAY

Review the queue

New proposals appear under Review queue on the Proposals tab, highest match first. Each card has everything you need to decide.

Top right: match score, Connects it costs and the bid. Under the title: why it scored that way. Then Why it fits / Watch out, the full letter and its own Loom video.

Approve

It goes out in the next free slot, once Sending is on.

Edit

Change the letter or the bid, then press Save.

Skip

It won't be sent. It stays in the Activity log as Skipped.

Editing the letter or the bid

The bid follows the rules in Settings (top of the client's range, $30/hr when there's no range, the client's budget for fixed price). To change it for one job, press Edit, type the new amount and press Save.

Upwork allows up to 5,000 characters. Email addresses, phone numbers and outside contact links are refused.

Approved one by mistake?

Open the Activity log tab and press Undo next to it. It goes back to the queue, as long as it hasn't been sent yet.

The Activity log lists every proposal and what happened to it. Export CSV downloads it for a spreadsheet.

Why a job isn't in the queue

Under the queue, Jobs found lists every job the tool looked at and the reason for each: client country, a low score, already applied, and so on.

Scan now runs a search straight away instead of waiting for the next 5-minute run.

SWITCHING ON

Sending

While Sending is off, nothing goes to Upwork: approved proposals simply wait. It's off on purpose until we've reviewed a full day of proposals together.

Settings → Sending. Tick the box and press Save changes at the bottom of Settings.

- Fixed-price jobs: Upwork shows its Dispute Assistance terms before every fixed-price proposal. Until the second box is ticked, fixed-price proposals stay in the queue.
- Auto-submit (top of the page) sends proposals without your approval. Only you switch it on, once you're happy with the quality. The tool never turns it on by itself.
- If Upwork ever asks for a human check, the tool goes back to Review first and shows why.
- Pause all stops everything at once; Resume bidding starts it again.

BUDGET

Connects

- Proposals use the Connects in Rafa's own Upwork account. A Klaviyo job usually costs 8–20.
- The balance at the top of the page updates every 30 minutes.
- Below 250, an alert goes to the report email so you can buy more. Sending continues as long as there are enough Connects for the next job.
- To buy more: Upwork, signed in as Rafa → Connects.

SETTINGS

Changing the rules

Everything is in the Settings tab. After any change, press Save changes at the bottom.

| TO CHANGE | GO TO | NOW SET TO |
|---|---|---|
| Keywords, client countries, excluded words | Which jobs to bid on | Klaviyo, in the title or description · US, Canada, UK |
| Minimum match score | Which jobs to bid on | 35 out of 100 |
| Notes about Rafa (skills, industries) | Cover letter | Email, SMS, migrations, Figma design, all industries |
| Letter template | Cover letter | Your template, word for word |
| Bids | Bids | Hourly: top of the client's range, else $30/hr · Fixed: the client's budget |
| Source video, how long copies are kept | Loom video | Copies deleted after 30 days |
| Limits per day or hour, hours, alert level | Caps and guardrails | No limits · 24/7 · 5 min apart · alert below 250 |
| Report email | Reports and connections | Your email |

Which jobs to bid on. Leave a field at 0 or empty for no limit.

In the letter template, keep `{opening}` where the personal intro goes and `{loom_link}` where the video link goes. Everything else is sent exactly as written.

Bids. "Rafa's hourly rate" is used for hourly jobs that don't show a rate.

VIDEO

Loom

Each proposal gets its own copy of your video, named after the job, so every client gets a fresh link. Copies are deleted after 30 days. Your original video never changes.

Settings → Loom video. The bottom row shows whether Loom is connected and until when.

Reconnecting Loom

Loom sessions last about a month. You get an email a week before it ends, and the dashboard shows it in red. It takes 2 minutes:

1. Open loom.com in Chrome, signed in to the Loom account that owns the video.
2. Press F12, open Application → Cookies → `https://www.loom.com`.
3. Click the row `connect.sid`. Copy its Value and note the date under Expires.
4. In the dashboard: Settings → Loom video → Reconnect. Paste the value, pick the date and press Connect.

Never share the connect.sid value, in chats, emails or screenshots. It works like a password for your Loom account. It's only ever pasted into the dashboard, where it's stored encrypted.

If Loom is disconnected, nothing stops: proposals go out with your original video instead of their own copy.

ACCOUNT

Upwork connection

The tool uses Upwork's official connection to Rafa's freelancer account. It renews itself, so you should rarely need this.

Settings → Reports and connections. Check now re-reads the account and the Connects balance.

Reconnecting Upwork

1. Press Reconnect. An Upwork tab opens.
2. Sign in with Rafa's freelancer account and press Allow.
3. You land on a page that "can't be reached". That's expected. Copy the whole address from that tab's address bar (it starts with `http://127.0.0.1`).
4. Paste it in the box on the dashboard and press Finish, within 10 minutes.

RESULTS

Rafa's account

The Rafa's account tab reads Rafa's Upwork numbers: proposals by status, how many clients viewed them, offers and hires, contracts and Connects. Pick a period and press Refresh from Upwork. It only reads; it never changes anything.

Upwork hands over proposals 10 at a time, so with many proposals the button shows "Reading Upwork… N so far" for a few seconds while it counts them all.

Click any i to see what a status means, for example Archived or Processing.

ALERTS

Emails

Once email is set up (coming soon), these go to the report email in Settings:

- Connects low: the balance dropped below 250.
- Loom expires in 7 days and Loom disconnected, with the steps to reconnect.
- Daily report: what was sent, what's waiting and what failed.

Until then, the same warnings show on the dashboard.

TROUBLESHOOTING

If something looks wrong

| YOU SEE | WHAT TO DO |
|---|---|
| A red bar "Paused: ..." | Read the reason. For an Upwork limit, wait an hour, then press Resume bidding. |
| "Upwork not connected" | Reconnect Upwork (above). |
| "Loom not connected" or a Loom error | Reconnect Loom (above). |
| A proposal marked "Check on Upwork" | The tool isn't sure it went through. It checks on its own and never sends it twice. |
| A job you expected isn't in the queue | Find it in Jobs found; the reason is next to it. |
| The page looks out of date | Reload with Ctrl + Shift + R (Mac: Cmd + Shift + R). |

PEACE OF MIND

Built-in safety

- ✓ Nothing is sent while Sending is off.
- ✓ In Review first, nothing is sent without your approval.
- ✓ One proposal per job, never twice.
- ✓ Any Upwork warning or limit pauses everything.
- ✓ No email, phone or outside links in the personal intro.
- ✓ Job posts are only read, never followed as instructions.
- ✓ Upwork, Loom and API keys are stored encrypted.
- ✓ Auto-submit is only ever switched on by you.
